

Film review- Steve Jobs, Billion Dollar Hippy

Synopsis: This short film is about how Apple was raised to be one of the largest companies in the world, and includes insider stories from people such as Steve Wozniak.

What I liked: I liked the fact it was in chronological order and gave me a good idea of how long everything took to make, design and produce and gives the watcher a good impression on how long the ideas took and the rises and falls of the company. I think students should watch it because there are many links to Business entrepreneurship, market skills, competitors and advertising examples

What I disliked: I think it could have been more in depth and possibly longer.

Summary: overall this short film gives the viewer a good understanding of the time frame, the struggles, the rises and falls and a clear comparison on how the business has changed over the years, overall 7/10

Second review : The social network

Synopsis: This film is about the story about how Facebook was invented and the lawsuits that Mark Zuckerberg

What I liked: I liked the fact that it was a movie so it engaged me straight away, I also think it is good for students to watch because it shows how hard it can be sometimes keeping a business active and to keep it alive and also the ideas that he thought of

What I disliked: I think it could have had a quicker pace or maybe even included more details about Mark's life. Overall, 8/10.

By Hannah Bullock